

HiLine Homes opens office in Salem for building projects

HiLine Homes, a Washington-based home builder, has opened an office in Salem.

The office at 3935 Hagers Grove Road SE is owned by Jeremy Alderman and Chris Brunette, who have more than 30 years of home-building experience.

HiLine Homes builds single-family homes on sites that owners provide.

The company sticks to several floor plans and suppliers, which it says allows it to build homes at a lower cost. It also has an Oregon office in Bend.
